In his powerful and moving memoir, From the River to the Sea, award-winning author and journalist Caleb Johnson chronicles his journey of self-discovery and transformation as he travels from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Ocean. Along the way, he meets a diverse cast of characters who help him to understand the complexities of race, identity, and the American dream.

Johnson's journey begins in the small town of Natchez, Mississippi, where he grew up in a segregated society. He witnesses firsthand the racism and discrimination that black people face on a daily basis. As he travels across the country, he meets other black people who have faced similar challenges. He also meets white people who are working to fight for racial justice. Through these encounters, Johnson comes to a new understanding of the American dream and the role that race plays in shaping it.

From the River to the Sea is a powerful and inspiring story about one man's journey to find his place in the world. It is a story about the power of love, resilience, and hope. It is a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.
